Kent County Water Authority statement on Centre of New England boil water notice

There is a great deal of confusion with who is affected by the boil water notice directed to the Centre of New England. Kent County Water Authority customers ARE NOT affected by this order except the noticed section Centre of New England. All water is safe for all users in Kent County Water Authority.

Any contamination in the Centre of New England (noticed boil water area) is fully protected from the Kent County Water Authority service area via backflow prevention.

Kent County Water Authority customers should go about using water as they normally do without fear. Again, Kent County Water is safe and is not affected by the Centre of New England boil water order.
